

Between Dark and Dawn

First paragraph only....

Night fell after I'd devoured a delicate dinner made by Dylan Jackson. He was human but that didn't prevent me from falling in love with him. My mother (Beatrix) is the dream dragon and she gave me strict orders not to associate with people like Dylan to protect myself from Tempest – the Nightmare Master. Being half dragon, half human isn't the greatest. I belch fire and it usually freaks humans out so much they never want to speak to me again – so I'm mainly an outsider. But with Dylan, I feel accepted and it's our love for each other that helps me get through the day.
